EDITOR'S NOTE

The principle of 'ahimsa' prophesied for ages, is very relevant today, when the world is combating serious issues of violence. Practicing ahimsa takes courage and skill, and challenges us on both the physical and mental level. Refraining from thoughts and words that can cause pain to others, not retaliating when insulted or unjustly criticized, are some common examples of ahimsa. We should not be violent in thoughts, words or actions towards ourselves and other beings, but be kind and compassionate at all times.

- Contd...

At NSN, children are encouraged to consistently find good qualities of the peer group, and appreciate them by writing it in the school handbook. A Good Finder's badge is given to them if they are consistent in appreciating others. This prevents peer group fights and bullying.

To become non-violent towards the world, we first need to develop non-violence within ourselves. It is essential to deeply understand that our behaviour towards ourselves and others, is directly connected. When we feel any kind of resentment, anger or judgment towards others, we are also creating this negative state within us, and in this manner we are being violent towards ourselves.

Trying to live each day as environmentally friendly as possible, is another great way to practice ahimsa. We can express our care for Mother Earth by planting trees, being mindful while using all natural resources, going on a technology fast once or twice a month, taking cloth or plastic reusable bags whenever we go shopping, minimising paper products by using recyclable containers etc. Loving oneself and others, which includes man and nature, is the only road to ahimsa.

"The day the power of love overrules the love of power, the world will know peace."

WINNERS OF TECHNIVIZ

Students of Std XI, Ezhil Kumar M, Prajan Sanjay K and Kavin S, of NSN Memorial, participated in TECHNIVIZ, conducted by SRM Institute of Science and Technology, Ramapuram. Their project on web development won the third prize, and they were selected for the internship at Neural Transformers AI. During the internship they were actively engaged in mastering various concepts, methodologies and tools, crucial to proficient web development. For the competition, they established "NSN INFINITE TRAILS", a travel-centric website, providing all-inclusive trip packages at unparalleled prices in the tourism market, featuring luxurious travel and accommodations. Their platform included a seamless login and signup system, to gather information from visitors and those interested in their packages.

During the internship period, they transformed their static website into a dynamic platform. The team implemented a login and sign-up system, enhancing the site with detailed information about the company and the courses they provide. They also seamlessly integrated a payment gateway, allowing users to make course payments, and redirecting them to a dedicated page featuring the course content.
